CVENT, INC.

WHISTLEBLOWING POLICY

This Whistleblowing Policy ("Policy") sets out procedures for reporting malpractices within Cvent Inc., and its wholly-operating entities Cvent Europe Ltd., Cvent Germany GmbH, Cvent Canada Inc., Cvent Australia PTY Limited, Cvent Singapore PTE Limited, Cvent India Private Limited, (the "Company").

1. What is the purpose of this Policy?
1.1 The goals of this Policy are to:
   1.1.1 encourage Staff (as defined below) to report suspected wrongdoing as soon as possible with the knowledge that their Concerns (as defined below) will be treated seriously, and that their confidentiality will be respected.
   1.1.2 provide guidance on how to raise such Concerns.
   1.1.3 reassure Staff that they will be able to raise Concerns and not suffer any detriment so long as the Concern is raised in good faith, even if the Concern proves unfounded.

2. What is Whistleblowing?
Whistleblowing is the raising of a concern, either within the workplace or externally, about a danger, risk, malpractice or wrongdoing which affects others ("Concern"). In this policy the term ‘Whistleblowing’ means reporting by Staff of suspected misconduct, illegal acts or failures to act when obliged to within the Company.

3. Who can Raise a Concern?
3.1 This Policy applies to all persons working at the Company whether they are employees, temporary workers, trainees or contractors or employees of contractors ("Staff").

4. How to Raise a Concern

4.1 This Policy is prepared and updated for the purposes of providing our Staff a way to help the Company operate in a legal and ethical manner, and in compliance with the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 (for UK), Sarbanes Oxley Act of 2002 (for US) and EU Working Party Opinion 1/2006 on the application of EU data protection rules to internal whistleblowing schemes (for EU). Company's Whistleblowing process may be described as follows:

1) Raise your Concern with your manager or HR Business Partner and explain as fully as you can the information or circumstances that gave rise to your Concern. Think about how the matter can be best resolved. If you want to report the matter anonymously, you can use the hotline. In all cases (anonymously or not) you have the option of reporting issues to the hotline designated below. Cvent has an online portal and telephone hotline number where Concerns against the Company or its Staff in certain permitted areas can be filed on the internet at www.cvent.ethicspoint.com and 877-219-5568 or via telephone at a local toll-free number listed on Appendix A.

2) Once the Concern is reported, it will be assessed by the individual to whom you reported the Concern (or to whom the hotline assigns the Concern) and appropriate actions will be considered (i.e. informal interview, internal investigation or more formal investigation).

3) If actions are not taken by the individual to whom you reported the Concern within 5 business days, you may report to Cvent’s General Counsel, Lawrence Samuelson, by contacting him at LSamuelson@cvent.com.
4) Upon receipt of a Concern, the manager who received the alert gives feedback as to how the matter is investigated and resolved and what kinds of measures may and will be taken to prevent such events in the future.

5) If the matter is not resolved in spite of actions undertaken by the manager who received the alert, the Concern shall be notified to the Cvent’s General Counsel. At this stage, if you reported anonymously, you will be asked whether you wish to disclose your identity throughout the proceedings or you wish to stay anonymous. Information on matters dealt with at this stage shall be recorded.

6) At this stage appropriate actions will be taken (i.e. informal interview, internal investigation or more formal investigation) by the appropriate members of Cvent management. As necessary, Cvent’s General Counsel or Vice President of Human Resources may be jointly responsible for managing the investigation of violations and determining appropriate disciplinary action for implicated Staff. At this stage, if you agree to disclose your identity, you may be interviewed by Cvent’s General Counsel and, as necessary, a member of Cvent senior management, and you will potentially be asked to provide information throughout the investigation.

   - Resolving matters at this stage may take longer, depending on the complexity of the issue and level of information provided.

4.2 Please be informed that in addition to this Policy, there is another document dealing with the Whistleblowing process - the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (“Ethics Code”). When in doubt, please refer to this document.

4.3 The procedures contained above should ensure that your Concern can be dealt with internally. However, if you believe that a disclosure of information should be made externally (e.g., the disclosure may be in the public interest), such disclosure should be justified and we advise you to first reach out to an independent party or a specialist (such as your own legal counsel) for advice.

5. How You Can Stay Anonymous

You may prefer to speak to someone in confidence. If this is the case, you should mention your wish to stay anonymous before raising the Concern. If you wish to stay anonymous, we will not disclose your identity. When you raise a Concern and have stated your wish to stay anonymous, your identity will be kept confidential at all stages of the process and will not be disclosed to third parties, including the implicated party(ies). However, there may be cases when disclosure of your identity is required by law or essential to the proceedings (i.e. witness evidence in court proceedings). We may be required to disclose your identity in any further investigation or subsequent judicial proceedings instigated as a result of the enquiry conducted by your employer.

In such instances, we will discuss possible actions with you prior to disclosing your identity. Moreover, if you remain anonymous, we will not be able to protect your position or report to you how the matter was dealt with. In exercising your right to stay anonymous, you should take into account the following factors:

   - The severity of the issue,
   - The credibility of your Concern,
   - The likelihood that your Concern can be confirmed through other sources.
